About Marisa Claudine

I have a passion to inspire women to cultivate an intimate relationship with their Father God. I firmly believe that once we understand that we can have intimacy with Him and we pursue it daily, our lives become transformed not only in our faith but that we find who we truly are in the presence of God's embrace.

I am deeply committed to supporting those navigating mental health challenges, PTSD, and addiction.

My mission is to share God's love through the examples of what He has done in my life, inspire other women to journey towards an intimate relationship with God, and provide a community where women can find hope in God.

Signature Message

If you have had an instance in your life that has caused you to feel shame, grief, or rejection or if there has ever been a time in your life when you've felt like no one could possibly understand what you were going through, please know that you are not alone. The Enemy does such a wonderful job making us feel like we are the only ones, but that is not the truth. The truth is, God loves us—even in our brokenness.

God's faithfulness in my life helped me during my own struggles with past traumas, rejection and the struggles I faced loving someone with addiction and depression.

I want you know that God's love and faithfulness is there for you too.
He knows you and you are seen.
